

The map displays the geographical boundaries of New York State Senate District 6, which is shaded in yellow. The district is situated in the western and central parts of Nassau County, extending into the eastern portion of Suffolk County. The map includes labels for numerous municipalities and hamlets, such as Oyster Bay, Garden City, Hempstead, and Levittown. A compass rose in the bottom-left corner indicates the cardinal directions (North, South, East, West). The map also shows the proximity to Long Island Sound and the Atlantic Ocean.
